The Akeso Group has a national footprint of psychiatric hospitals. Its newest hospital, based in Nelspruit, is seeking to expand its team by inviting all interested SA-registered psychiatrists to consider setting up a practise within the hospital, enjoying full admission rights. The team is still small, and there is a great opportunity to grow a practice in this medically under-resourced but fast-growing area. There are just a few psychiatrists covering an extensive region, and there is a great opportunity to establish a practise in the area, especially now that there is a 75 bedded specialist psychiatric hospital offering comprehensive treatment.
