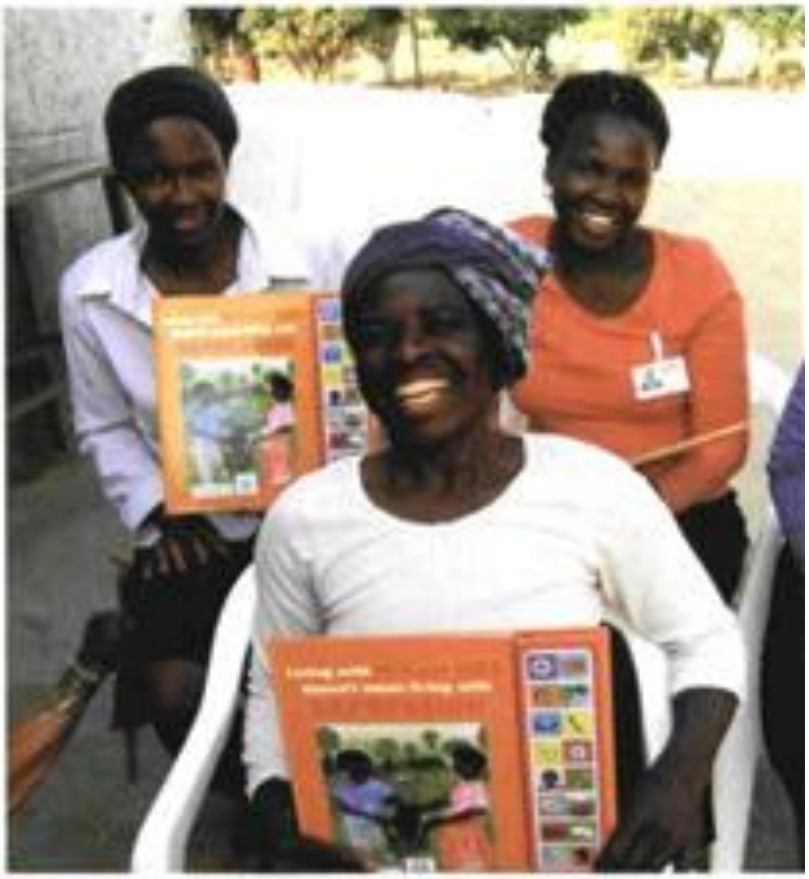
FAIR LADY
01 Jul 2011, p.27



The Speaking Book (yes, you heard correctly)

The South African Depression Group (SADAG) created The Speaking Book to convey 16 critical health-care messages in audio to those who can't read. And their efforts have been recognised by the UN Economic Commission for Africa: they received the information and communication technology prize for their health innovation. SADAG won the award ahead of 1 400 participants from 80 countries.
[Source: www.sagoodnews.co.za]